Gay Brown – Private Tutor

We found Gay Brown through the internet and after reading the testimonials of other people on her website we felt confident in engaging her to tutor our son Aaron.

Aaron was having difficulty with reading and spelling at school and he also lacked confidence. He reached a point where he did not like school and did not want to attend. He often feigned illness to avoid going to school.

From the first session with “Mrs Brown” we saw a significant improvement in Aaron’s attitude towards both reading and writing and also a noticeable increase in his confidence.

The class teacher at our local primary school also reported to us that she had noted a strong improvement in his attitude and willingness to do the work set for him.

Gay Brown was always kind and very patient with Aaron and he always looked forward to his weekly sessions with her.

The “one on one” tutoring with Gay has benefited Aaron greatly with his class results improving significantly and his confidence and participation growing strongly as well.

Gay Brown is an experienced, patient and thoughtful person who has demonstrated the ability to build rapport with her students quickly and to engage them at a level where she is able to get good results from the time spent with her.

We are aware that this testimonial will be placed on the website and we hereby give consent.
